TORONTO 19.—The continued ill health of H. H. Mr. Pardon has resulted in that gentleman's retirement from the Ontario cabinet. Hon. Mr. Hardy has taken the office of Commissioner of Crown Lands and Col. Gibson of Hamilton that of Provincial Secretary. The new ministers were sworn in this afternoon.

A Terrible Railway Accident.

MARQUETTE, Mich. 21.—A passenger train on the Northwestern road, near Elmwood, ran off the track. The truck under the rear coach broke, and after running about five car lengths struck a stump and was smashed to pieces, killing or injuring all the occupants. Among the killed was Lieut. Governor McDonald of Michigan.

A Garrison Trouble.

QUEBEC 16.—There is serious trouble in the Citadel. Col. Turnbull of the cavalry corps has ordered Major Short of "B" Battery, Regiment of Canadian Artillery, under arrest. There are stories of a mutiny being contemplated by the men who sympathize with Major Short, but the officers are keeping the affair as quiet as possible.

Canada and the Jubilee Show.

LONDON, 21.—It is reported here that the Department of Agriculture is hesitating to sanction representation of Canada at the Jubilee show of the Royal Agricultural Society at Windsor. All the farming world is talking of the show, which will be the Agricultural event of the century. The Queen and Prince of Wales are especially interested.

Improving the C.P.R. Telegraph System.

OTTAWA, 21.—Abern & Soper of this city have received the contract for constructing a cable line through Canadian territory, and connecting with the McKay-Bennett cable company. The Canadian line will begin at Cape Canso and pass Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, forming a connection with the Canadian Pacific telegraph system.

Fan for the Senate.

OTTAWA, 22.—The hourly headed old members of the Dominion Senate have a rich feast in store for them the coming Parliament. Eight divorce cases are to be disposed of. The Middleton case in which a nephew of Sir Fred Middleton is suing for divorce from his naughty wife, for running away with a bank clerk, will rank among the pithiest.

He Fooled the Teller.

OTTAWA, 16.—About three o'clock yesterday a young girl entered the branch of the Banque Ville Marie at Hull and asked the teller to stop outside as a priest wished to speak to him. The teller left the box, and a thief entered the back door, stole over $7,000 and made off. The girl also escaped. There is no clue to the robbers.

WINNIPEG, 21.—While driving along Main street this morning, a horse attached to the sleigh containing Lieutenant-Governor Schultz took fright and ran away, throwing the Lieut.-Governor out, breaking his arm and otherwise injuring him. Owing to the Governor's previous indisposition it is feared the accident may have serious results.

WINNIPEG 16.—The nomination for Provencer takes place tomorrow. A large number of conservatives, dissatisfied with Lariviere, have presented H. J. Clark, barrister, Winnipeg, with a requisition asking him to be the candidate. Mr. Clark has accepted, and Richard, the independent candidate will retire from the contest.

A Big Job.

OTTAWA 17.—The printing of the Dominion voters list has been completed. It is the biggest job ever done in Canada, over one hundred and fifty thousand pounds of type being used in the job, which will be kept standing. The list contains the names of about one million voters and it will take till nearly the end of the year for revision.

A Collector of Customs Resigns.

HALIFAX, 22.—Hon. William Ross, has telegraphed the Minister of Customs his resignation of the office of collector of customs here. This is due to his exceeding authority in granting the privilege of transshipment of fish to the American schooner "Baboon." Mr. Ross, who was Minister of Militia in the Mackenzie Government, has been collector thirteen years.

C. P. R. Legislation.

OTTAWA 16.—The Canadian Pacific evidently intends to ask for some important legislation at the coming session. A yesterday notice of application to parliament was given for an act to enable the company to readjust and consolidate the capital charges upon the entire railway system, without increasing the natural charges thereon, and to make further provision for steamships, plant and equipment.

Handed Over to Her Parents.

St. Johns, Que., 18.—Judge Charland gave a decision in the habeas corpus case of Miss Morrisette, whose parents are seeking to obtain her from the Grand Ligne (Presbyterian) mission where she is staying. Her parents are Roman Catholics and the girl turned Protestant of her own free will. As she is nineteen, it was claimed she had a right to choose her own religion. The court however decided otherwise and ordered the girl to be handed over to her parents.

G. T. R. & C. P. R.

TORONTO 19.—The Canadian Pacific has issued orders that all Toronto freight for Manitoba and the Northwest, must go via the Northern short line connecting with the Canadian Pacific at North Bay, and which is under the control of the Grand Trunk. Heretofore the C. P. R. refused all negotiations and equivalents offered by the Grand Trunk to gain this freight, so the general opinion is that an important understanding has been come to between the two roads, by which the trade of the country will be divided up and harmony established between the two lines.

Another Unfriendly Act.

OTTAWA 19.—The order issued by the American customs authorities instructing the collector at Detroit to collect duty on all Canadian cars entering Canada at that place carrying freight from American points to other American points, created a stir among the railway officials. It is admitted that the object of the United States authorities is to prevent international business from being carried in Canadian bottoms. The effect of the enforcement of the order will be to compel all Canadian railway companies handling international business to handle that freight in American built cars or go out of the business. The Minister of Customs has wired for further information.

North-West Judicial District.

OTTAWA, 21.—At the recent session of the Northwest Legislature, a memorial was adopted asking the Federal government to increase the judicial districts in the Northwest and extend the machinery of courts by increasing the powers of such officers as deputy sheriffs, clerks, etc., in order to remove many of the inconveniences which now exist, owing to the vast stretch of country to be covered. The Government carefully considered the matter and the Lieut. Governor has been advised that the assembly itself possesses all the power necessary to carry out the reforms which it suggests. Steps will be taken to re-arrange the judicial districts of the territories and appoint deputy sheriffs at a few important points, where sheriffs do not now reside.

FOREIGN.

John Bright's Condition Alarming.

LONDON, 18.—John Bright's condition is alarming. He has suffered another relapse.

Missionaries Martyred.

Pope Leo will try an American Receipt.

ROME, 17.—The Pope, whom he lately gave an audience to the American prelates, urged them to combat Socialism in the United States, and if private measures failed, he promised that the power of the receipt would be used.

A Liberal Gain.

GLASGOW 19.—In the election to fill the seat for Govan Division, Lancashire, made vacant by the death of Sir William Pearce, held yesterday, Wilson, Gladstonian liberal, was elected by a thousand majority over John Pender. This is a liberal gain.

Muzzling the Nationalists.

LONDON 18.—If the Government does not soon desist from issuing communions to Irish members of the House of Commons there will very shortly be few of them out of jail. Already the number in prison and under indictment equivalent to conviction is far in excess of that of any other period in the history of the Irish struggle for home rule, and there is no indication that it will be any smaller for some time to come.

Canada and Japan.

LONDON 18.—It is understood a movement is on foot to induce the Imperial government to make the proposed China and Japan mail service from Vancouver fortnightly instead of monthly. A strong opinion is entertained among some members of parliament that Imperial recognition should not stop at the annual subsidy of £45,000 already promised, but could be made really efficient by establishing the first class fortnightly service originally proposed.

England and the U. S.

LONDON 18.—The belief has become general in diplomatic circles that the troubles in Samoa must lead to serious friction between the United States and Germany, out of which will probably grow a better understanding between England and America, beginning with the relegation of the Sackville incident to oblivion. It is asserted by persons in a position to know the facts, that Secretary Bayard informed Lord Salisbury of the recent happenings at Samoa 48 hours previous to the publication of the first account of the trouble, and it is further stated that this is almost the only communication that has passed between the English and American governments since the Sackville incident.

Khartoum Must Fall.

LONDON, 18.—A blue book on Foreign affairs has just been issued. It shows that Sir Evelyn Baring foresaw that pressure would be made to induce the British to capture Khartoum, but that he opposed the idea as useless, believing it to be impossible to tranquilize the Sudan without the re-occupation of Khartoum, which would require a large force. In a telegram to Lord Salisbury, on December 19, Sir Evelyn Baring declared that he had not the least opposition to the policy of negotiating and trading with the tribes, but he had little confidence in the results. He was unable to shut his eyes to the fact that the supplies of food imported by the British had much facilitated and prolonged their siege of Suakin.

FOR BEER DRINK.

A Remarkable Character Since His Exit From the World's Stage.

MONTREAL, 16.—Joe Beef, a well known character and keeper of the celebrated resort is dead.

Deceased was a true character and his name had become a household word over the whole continent. His right name was Francis McKiernan, and he went to Montreal as a sergeant of the Royal Artillery at the time that city was the headquarters of the British army in America. Buying his discharge, he started a soldier's drinking house and after the troops left he turned it into a saloon. He was a most original genius, clever though vulgar. He understood the art of advertising to perfection, and successfully did he advertise his place, that but very few tourists to Montreal considered they had seen the sights, without making a tour of inspection of his remarkable establishment. He occupied a large stone building on the harbor front, and it possessed all the features of a drinking den, dancing house, boarding house, theatre, prayer meeting house and a menagerie. In the basement he kept a den of bears. On the main floor he had a collection of wild animals, consisting of a buffalo, wolves, foxes, minkes, porcupine, deer, etc., a rough sort of dining room, kitchen and combination bar room and museum of horrors. Occupying a prominent position behind the bar was a human skeleton painted a bright green. When the late Henry Ward Beecher visited the place, he was plainly assured by Joe that the skeleton was that of his father, who had been a traitor to the Irish cause and had so annoyed Joe that he had made up his mind to make the skeleton of his deceased father do penance, by sporting for all time to come the national colors of the Emerald Isle. Another feature of the place was a small theatre, with footlights and scenery, where rough performances were usually given by Joe's "musicians," as he called them. On Sunday this place was picked at the disposal of street preachers and remarkable services held. Joe's mode of conducting business was unique. His customers, of course, were of the low cut class and poor, and Joe had to give them board at low prices. Joe could not afford the luxury of cooks, so his customers had to cook their own meals. Ten cents was the price of his dinner. On paying this modest sum, Joe's customer was given a good slice of raw beef, half a loaf bread, an out of a trying pan and a tin cup. A fire was provided all the time. On the trying pan the man cooked his meat, and with his cup he helped himself to coffee from a large chaudière. Joe, who prided himself on his facility of constructing doggerel, had his price list set to poetry after this wise:—

Five cents for breakfast
And three cents for bread
Two for fire and coffee
And five for your bed.
Add the breeze from the gutter
Blows a salt water smell
To refresh all the guests
At Joe Beef's Hotel.

Some years ago Joe created quite a sensation by the dramatic burial of his first wife. He engaged a band to play the Dead March in Saul at the head of the hearse and marshalled all his "bums" as a mourning cortege. He followed, leading his pet bears; his employees in turn following with the other animals of his menagerie. At the cemetery Joe delivered an oration, and the unique funeral party returned to "The Canteen," as Joe called his place. Immediately on arrival, Joe married his deceased wife's sister, and the night was given up to rejoicing. Joe spent considerable money on charity and did well off. The principal part of his revenue was derived from his visits to the more genteel class, who tempted to the Canteen by curiosity. Had to pay toll by treating the more genteel "bums," of whom there were a large number about the bar.

CALGARY CONSERVATIVES

Hold Their Annual Meeting and Elect Officers.

The annual meeting of the Calgary Liberal Conservative Association, held last evening in the old Town Hall, drew together a representative and influential gathering of citizens of Calgary as has been seen for a long time. Mr. John Lineham, M. L. A., occupied the chair. Mr. Charles Sparrow acting as secretary. The meeting was characterized by the greatest good feeling throughout. The principal business was the election of officers, and a good idea of the harmonious nature of the meeting was afforded by the fact that all of the officers were elected by acclamation. The gentlemen so honored, were as follows:—

President, John Lineham, M. L. A.
First Vice President, Jas. A. Loughheed.
Second " " " J. B. Costigan.
Secretary, Treasurer, Charles Sparrow.
Committee:—Charles Watson, W. F. Orr, Dr. Lindsay, A. E. Shelton and Joe Millward.

After the newly elected officers had acknowledged the honor done them, the meeting adjourned.

The WEEKLY HERALD AND ALBERTA LIVE STOCK JOURNAL is the weekly edition of the Calgary Herald. It is distinct from the Wednesday issue of the DAILY HERALD, thus allowing of a perfect arrangement of matters impossible with those so-called weekly papers which take the place of the Daily issue upon the days they are published.

Editor and Manager.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 23, 1899.

WHO IS TO BLAME.

The Macleod Gazette complains that "In Montana, in the east and in Europe, the emigrating public supposed that Alberta had been handed over bona-bolus to the leaseholders." Unfortunately this is to a certain extent true, and that it is so, the country has to thank the Macleod Gazette and the Montreal Herald for their continual complainings about the land being "closed up within the Chinese walls of the grazing leases."

STOCK QUOTATIONS.

A correspondent of the HERALD predicts that the development of the Alberta dairy industry is destined to lead to the establishment of an immense hog raising industry in this country. In support of his contention he mentions the fact that in New South Wales, where dairy factories are now becoming common, there is no use for the separated milk, except its consumption by pigs. But as the keeping of these animals in immediate proximity with the factory would be objectionable, a new apparatus, worked by steam, for forcing the milk through a pipe to the distance of a quarter of a mile to the piggeries has come into use.

THE CEMETERY QUESTION.

The fact that, out of reverence to the expressed repugnance of the deceased to the bleak apology for a Protestant cemetery, the remains of the late Mrs. Rogers have been taken all the way to Fish Creek cemetery shows in a sad, but forcible way, the necessity for immediate action being taken to provide a suitable resting place for our dead. While this sad event serves as an incentive to those who have entered upon the task of procuring a decent cemetery, it also strengthens their hands in their demands upon the Government for the grant of a desirable site.

HOG RAISING.

Proof of the business development of Calgary is afforded by the fact that considerable interest is beginning to be taken in the money and stock markets of the east. Several enquiries have recently been made at this office as to the ruling rates of certain stock on the Montreal Stock Exchange. To gratify such curiosity the HERALD has made arrangements with the well known firm of Osler, Hammond & Nanton, of Winnipeg, to supply this paper with daily reports of ruling prices of stocks on the Montreal Exchange. The reputation of this well known firm is sufficient guarantee of the reliability of the quotations, and we hope this new departure will be appreciated by our readers of a speculative turn of mind.

LEASE CANCELLATIONS.

Mr. Dowdney deserves the thanks of all classes of the community for the energetic steps he is taking to prevent evasions of the law under the grazing lease system. Lessees who do not perform the terms of their leases are weakening the position of legitimate stockmen who do, and in addition, those who had old leases, closing the land to settlement, exercise a bad influence in the way of retarding settlement. While the HERALD takes the ground that the holders of the leases who live up to the terms of their leases, should be protected in their rights, it as firmly maintains that the lessee who does not recognize the obligations of his lease, should have his lease summarily cancelled. This is the only way to prevent abuses creeping into the lease system, and to make the system advantageous and permanent it must be kept free from abuses.

THE LT. GOVERNOR'S VISIT.

As announced in another column, His Honor, Lieutenant Governor Royal will pay Calgary his first official visit in a few days. Some steps should at once be taken to tender His Honor a hearty welcome to the principal business centre of the Territories. Apart altogether from those claims upon our hospitality which His Honor possesses as the representative of the Governor General, as a link in the chain binding the greater Canada of the future to the throne of the Great Empire of which we are all so proud to form a part, he has claims upon the esteem of our people for the energy he has thrown into his official duties. It is universally admitted that since his installation, Mr. Royal has done good service for the country. He is clearly doing his utmost to use his authority for the public advantage, and the people of Calgary should not fail to seize this opportunity to show that His Honor's energetic and patriotic efforts are appreciated. A public meeting to discuss the matter should be called at once.

AN INDEX TO CALGARY'S BUSINESS.

Our contemporary, the Tribune has been delving deep into the bulky blue book issued by the Postmaster General, and has brought out an array of figures which show how far the postal business of Calgary exceeds that of any other Northwest town. The revenue of the Calgary postoffice for the year 1888 was $6,700; Regina, $5,883; Mooseomin, $2,140; Prince Albert, $2,036; Lethbridge, $1,800; Qu'Appelle Station, $1,620; Macleod, $1,452. Our contemporary remarks:—

"As will be observed, Calgary stands a long way ahead of all the rest, both as to the amount of revenue and money orders. Regina comes next in the matter of revenue, but in the case of Regina the comparative relations between post-office correspondence and general business is disturbed on account of the large number of Government officials located there. Government correspondence unduly swells the post office receipts at Regina, and these receipts therefore are not as good an index of population and business activity as the figures given from other post offices. This fact is made clear by an examination of the money order business, which shows a far greater difference in favor of Calgary."

In Calgary 2,296 orders amounting to $44,956 were issued and $24,733.32 paid. At Regina, the next largest office, 1,357, amounting to $29,563.25 were issued, and $15,973.78 paid.

The figures give a very good idea of Calgary's commercial supremacy.

CANADA'S PUBLIC DEBT.

The Morning Call administers a deserved rebuke to the Jeremiah's of politics who are always running about the government's extravagance in allowing the public debt to increase as it has. Our Winnipeg contemporary says:—

"An eastern Grit journal referring to the financial condition of Canada makes the two specific statements that since 1867 the Dominion debt has more than trebled and that since 1873 it has increased one hundred million dollars. Both these statements are untrue, but in that respect they are simply consistent with the usual Grit practice of garbling figures in a dishonest attempt to make out a case against the Government. In 1867 the net debt of the Dominion was $75,728,643.31; debt owed by provinces and since assumed by the Dominion $14,543,322.38—total $90,271,965.69. The net debt in 1898 was $24,154,358.15, leaving therefore a decrease of $66,117,607.54 or a trifle over what it was in 1867. As justification for adding the thirty millions to the debt at the time of confederation it must be remembered that the allowance of those debts to the Provinces was in accordance with arrangements made at that time, and that though the amount of the public debt has been thereby apparently increased no new liabilities have actually been created, inasmuch as these debts, if not taken over by the Dominion, would still be owing by the Provinces, and this assumption of Provincial debts has been therefore a simple transfer of liability, and the burden on the people was not increased. Thus it is seen that the claim that Canada's debt has more than doubled since confederation is utterly without foundation. The assertion that it has increased one hundred million dollars since 1873 is shown to be without any basis on facts. In 1873 the net debt of the Dominion was $140,302,069.91; provincial debts, since assumed by the Dominion Government, $10,254,022.11—total, $150,556,092.02. Taking the present net debt as above stated, it will be seen that the increase has been $93,375,236.24. Conservative Government have held power sixteen years since confederation. They increased the public debt (apart from assumption of Provincial debts) by $62,472,779.57, or at the rate of $3,779,548.72 for each year. The Mackenzie Government held power five years, and increased the debt (apart from provincial debts assumed) by $35,586,547.53, or at the rate of $7,117,309.50 for each year. The Conservatives can point to Prince Edward Island, British Columbia, Manitoba and the Northwest added to the Dominion, to the Intercolonial and Canadian Pacific railways and numerous public works as the result of their expenditure. The Grits have nothing to show for their outlay. These are facts which Grit journals do not go very closely into when attacking the Conservative Government for increasing the debt. They like to make prominent the simple statement that the debt has increased, without showing how or with what results. The public accounts are, however, at ways available, and if Grits were honest they would quote from them more fully than they now seem inclined to do. Then they would be able to show just what the situation is."

NOT MUCH TO BRAG ABOUT.

Ever since the Macleod Gazette opened out upon its own foster child, the cattle quarantine, the Montreal Herald has been playing a boisterous second fiddle to our southern contemporary. Almost every article the Gazette published on the question was faithfully reproduced and embellished by the Montreal paper.

The Macleod Gazette has in turn reproduced the Herald's embellishments; and while the editorial columns of the Gazette have been laden with tid-bits from the Montreal Herald, it in turn has been deluging its readers with the doubtful complaints and woeful forebodings of the Macleod paper. Now we find the two papers beginning to realize that they have been backing each other up pretty well, and they have begun devoting their columns to thanking one another for mutual support. When it is considered that the Macleod Gazette is the only Northwest paper, which has persistently agitated for the abolition of the quarantine, and that the Montreal Herald is the only Eastern paper which has taken the matter up with any enthusiasm, it is easy to understand this gratitude. It is a fearfully thankless job to carry on a newspaper agitation without a single ally and if you only have one, it is natural to be deeply grateful to that one. Have not our contemporaries been a little injudicious, however, in announcing that they have each been restricted for allies, to one lonely paper? If the Macleod Gazette with the rare amount of argument and recrimination it has struggled through during its anti-quarantine crusade, has only succeeded in inducing one Eastern paper, and that a peculiarly badly informed one on Northwest matters, to support its contentions, would it not have been more conducive to its prestige to have kept silent about it? An attack on a detail of government policy, which can only command the support of one journal from among the whole horde of rabid opposition sheets, which struggle against fate in the East, can have but very little to commend it. The anti-quarantine agitators have very little to brag about over the impression they have made on either the Eastern or Territorial press. And pray recollect that the press reflects public opinion.

ALL SORTS OF THINGS.

For the purpose of securing a market for American trotters in England a very ingenious scheme has been proposed. It is to present the Prince of Wales with an elegant team of trotters, and thus introduce a new fad into English style and create a demand abroad for American trotting stock.

Calgary has elected her full municipal council for 1899 by acclamation, and now the Calgary Conservative Association, the most important political organization in the Territories, follows suit by electing all of its officers by acclamation. The people of Calgary can work together harmoniously for the public advancement.

Our esteemed contemporary the Saskatchewan Herald of Battleford, the pioneer paper of the Territories, has entered upon the eleventh year of its existence. Our northern namesake is one of our most valued Territorial exchanges and we heartily wish it many happy returns of the day and unlimited prosperity. It deserves it.

"Abolish quarantine and the British market will be closed against Canadian live stock" says Dr. Fream, of the Downton College of Agriculture, who visited the Northwest last summer. There is no doubt of the truth of this remark, and the fact affords the most complete justification of the Dominion Government's refusal to allow Montana cattle to be imported into Alberta without undergoing quarantine at the boundary.—Winnipeg Call.

Pretty near all the editorial space of the last number of the Regina Leader received here, was taken up with sacking praise of Mr. Davin and abuse of his enemies real and supposed. Considering that all this bosh is written by Mr. Davin himself, it is interesting as further evidence of his consuming egotism; but is the whole interest of the Leader's readers concentrated in Davinism. Mr. Davin is certainly injuring himself, and we regret to see it.

Here is a chance for Calgary's curlers.—Lord Stanley is continuing the practice of previous Governors-General in annually offering prizes for curling. A notice is issued that he will give two silver cups for competition this winter—one by stone-playing clubs and the other by iron-playing ones. All clubs in Canada can compete by the nomination of their best rinks to play on their own ice for points, under the supervision of an umpire. The two clubs whose rinks make the highest scores will come to Ottawa and play off against each other.

The Saskatchewan Herald announces that the post office at Carlton has been reopened under the name of Wingard.

Our contemporary adds:—"We are sorry to see the historic name of Carlton done away with as it is one of the oldest, and many years ago was one of the most important posts of the Hudson Bay Company on the Saskatchewan. The old established names of places should not be lightly done away with." The Calgary Herald heartily endorses this protest. It is to be hoped that the government will be content to allow the old, often historical names of the country to remain as they are. The practice of replacing old names, by others perpetuating the memory of Jones, Brown and other nonentities should be brought to a full stop. Above all let us try to preserve as many Indian names as possible. We owe it to the original possessors of these plains, as well as to our own taste and love of the musical in names.

OUR TOWN.

Described by a Prominent Eastern Journalist.

Professor Dawson, of the Empire editorial staff, who paid Calgary a couple of visits during the summer, publishing an interesting series of articles on his trip in the Empire. The Empire arriving today, contains the first part of a description of Calgary. The matter is interesting as giving us an idea as to how we appear to an observant stranger and the Herald intends to reproduce it in full. Mr. Dawson in his first article says:—

"A couple of hours before reaching Calgary the train was boarded by Mr. A. E. Shelton, the shrewd and enterprising mayor of the town, who was returning from a short visit of inspection to the scene of some newly-discovered coal fields. It did not take us very long to become acquainted, nor to convince me that His Worship was a keen, practical man of business, enthusiastic about the country and anxious to further its development by every lawful means. Like nearly every person with whom I came in contact in the Northwest, he was courteous and obliging to a degree, and having given me some general information as to the history and prospects of his well-beloved town, he kindly promised to call on me the next morning and introduce me to some of the leading citizens—a promise which he afterwards fulfilled very amply. Of course I knew in a vague, general way that Calgary is the largest, wealthiest and in some respects the most important town between Brandon and Vancouver, but I was hardly prepared on my arrival to find the streets lighted by electricity, and to meet with other indications of a similar kind, showing a state of progress and prosperity truly surprising in a town barely three years old. My first hasty glance at the streets through which we passed about an hour after midnight on our way to the hotel impressed me favorably, and the impression was confirmed and heightened by what I saw in daylight. The streets are all wide and well laid out, flanked by good, broad plank sidewalks, and generally macadamized or gravelled. The dwelling houses are, as a rule, comfortable and substantial, some of the private residences being exceedingly handsome, and being possessed of far more than the average architectural merit to be found in cities ten times the extent of Calgary. The stores and warehouses are excellent, solidly built of brick or stone for the most part, and supplied with full assortments of goods of every description, at prices, generally speaking, by no means exorbitant. There is a fine brick Central school, and the

is ample for all the wants of the community for a good many years to come. The hotels and restaurants are numerous, comfortably furnished and supplied with all needful appliances for the entertainment of the travelling public; and in addition to the number of good hosteries in operation at the time of my visit, a very superior hotel was in process of erection to meet the steady increase in the demand for first-class accommodation. Public buildings are not very numerous, but those that have been provided are admirably adapted to their purposes, and have been built on a scale of strength and solidity that argues well for the confidence of the people in the future of their well-situated municipality. Well-situated is, indeed, too tame and feeble a term to be applied; the situation of the town is exceptionally favorable. Scores of years ago it attracted the attention of the officers of the Hudson Bay Company, who established and have since maintained here one of their most important western posts; and in more recent years its many natural advantages prompted the Hon. E. Dewdney, now Minister of the Interior, at that time Lieutenant-Governor of the Territories, to predict that this was destined to be the

in the not far distant future. Standing as it does on the banks of the Bow river, and almost encircled by the waters of the main stream and one of its most important affluents, the Elbow, which joins it at this point, Calgary is not only assured of a plentiful supply of the best and purest water at all times, but it has also a ready means of natural drainage, which can be utilized at a comparatively trifling expense. Moreover, its position on the river gives it an abundant supply of excellent timber for building and other purposes, and this supply has already been largely put into requisition by the residents in the erection and adornment of their houses, the Eau Claire and Bow River Lumber Company have erected saw, lathe and planing mills in the outskirts of the town, with a present capacity of 50,000 feet of lumber and 30 feet of latex per day, an output which will probably be easily increased as soon as the outside demand requires the extra production. Brick clay of superior quality is found in abundance, and at easy distances from the town occur several of the very best kind for the builder's purpose, being at once easily worked and of such a texture and chemical composition as to harden on exposure to the influence of the temperature.

"And then, as to its geographical position, one can hardly imagine it possible for an inland town to be more favorably located; it stands at the base of the foothills of the Rocky Mountains, and is thus the natural outlet for the mineral products of an exceedingly wide and richly-endowed district, while it is at the same time the natural distributing point from which supplies must be forwarded to the miners; on the opposite side stretch vast areas of fertile prairies, waiting only for the immigrants, who must come some time or other, to enrich themselves and the traders and manufacturers of Calgary by the fair exchange of commodities; to the north lies a well-wooded district, extending to Edmonton and the North Saskatchewan, and embracing many valuable tracts of well-watered grazing and farming lands, and on the south, away to the boundary of the United States, runs the par excellence, stretching past McLeod, 100 miles distant, and on to the imaginary dividing line, covered with the most luxuriant pasturage in the world, intersected at short intervals by mountain creeks and streams of the purest water, and having its climate mitigated by the gentle influence of the mild Chinook at the most inclement season of the year. It will indeed be an extraordinary instance of the neglect of natural advantages of position, climate and surroundings if the people of this highly favored town should fail to make it what Nature seems clearly to have intended it to become, one of the greatest and best inland cities of the continent.

In its topographical features Calgary resembles Medicine Hat very closely in one particular, both places are located in river valleys considerably below the level of the surrounding prairies, so that neither of them can be seen by the traveller till he has reached the edge of the adjacent tableland, whence a somewhat abrupt descent conveys him quickly into the heart of the town.

Calgary is, however, much nearer the mountains, which may be seen rising to south and west some 50 or 60 miles away, while the foot hills in the foreground add greatly to the variety and picturesque character of the country; viewed from any point of the elevated plateau or detached hills, by which it is inclosed on all sides, it presents the appearance of a business community, and certainly seems capable of containing in its numerous dwellings a considerable larger population than is usually claimed for it. The estimate ordinarily made by leading residents of the town placed its population at about 3,000, and this must, I suppose, be taken as a fair approximation, though the house accommodation seemed ample for at least another thousand. In earlier days the people were, no doubt, more numerous, for notwithstanding its comparatively recent admission into the ranks of incorporated municipalities, it has already had two "boom" periods, during which the transient lodgers were probably not fewer than the bona fide residents. Owing to its position at the foot of the mountains it enjoyed the advantages of being the headquarters of construction parties for an unusually long period during the building of the C.P.R., when the nucleus of many a fortune was made here, as elsewhere; and a gain, during the unhappy Riel rebellion, its position once more made it an important basis of supplies and brought not a little ready money into circulation. But Calgary needs no such chance lifts as these to ensure her permanent prosperity; she is in a position to command her own future to a very large extent, and that it will be a prosperous one there can be very little doubt. In no place in the whole of the North-western Territories and Provinces did I meet with a greater proportion of determined to build up a vigorous, thriving community; nowhere did I find the surrounding country peopled by more industrious, wide-awake settlers, though still lamentably few in number; and nowhere did I find more favorable conditions, immediate and remote, for the development of a great centre of human activity. In one thing Calgary has an advantage that cannot be enjoyed by any of her rivals; she is the nearest town to the mountains, and besides the trading opportunities thus opened to her, she is favorably situated for securing a large share of the immigrants that find their way into the country. Many of these pass right across the plains without being able to decide on a suitable location, but when they reach the valley of the Bow River they make up their minds to settle there, partly because they are allured by the beauty of the place and partly, perhaps, because in some cases they feel that it is their last chance of saving themselves from the imputation of being too hard to please. In fact, the tide of immigration here becomes affluent, and the district round Calgary cannot but reap a good deal of the advantage.

In my next letter I will introduce my readers to some other prominent men, and direct their attention to some other prominent features of the prairie before we set our faces toward the mountains and British Columbia.

IN HARNESS.

Calgary's New Municipal Council Settles Down to Work.

The new town Council held its first meeting for the year 1889, at the Council Chamber last night at 8 o'clock. His Worship, D. W. Marsh was in the chair, and all the Councillors were present. E. P. Davis acted as clerk. The Mayor opened the proceedings by reading an address, in which he referred to the prosperous condition of the town. He urged the importance of the Council using every legitimate means in their power in connection with the citizens to secure the construction of a railway to the south, as early a date as possible. He referred to the fact that the town would soon have to provide sewers, which would cost considerable money. While recognizing that some public expenditure must be made during the year, he counselled economy, warning the Council against exhausting their borrowing powers. The address was received with applause.

The first business was the moving a resolution by Coun. King that the regular order of business be dispensed with which was carried.

A by-law was then introduced, providing for the distribution of the standing Committees by the Mayor, as there was no opposition, this by-law passed its three readings. The seal of the Corporation, and the signature of the Mayor and Clerk were attached. His Worship then proceeded to name the following committees:

Police and Relief; D. W. Marsh, chairman, G. C. King, J. G. Fitzgerald. Fire, Water and Light; A. Grant, chairman, W. D. Orr, Geo. Murdoch. Public Works and Property; W. F. Orr, chairman, G. C. King, A. Grant. Executive & Finance; G. C. King, chairman, D. W. Marsh, A. Grant. Markets & Health; G. Murdoch, chairman, Jas. Bannerman, J. G. Fitzgerald. By-laws & Licences; J. G. Fitzgerald, chairman, Geo. Murdoch, Jas. Bannerman.

A letter was received from Mr. E. P. Davis, offering his services for another year as town clerk and solicitor, proposing to set apart a couple of hours each day for town business and giving other facilities for the transaction of municipal business. It was moved by Councillor King, seconded by Councillor Murdoch, that Mr. E. P. Davis be continued as clerk. Carried.

A letter was received from Mr. R. A. Jones, offering without prejudice to commute his claim of $114 damages by flood for the sum of $50. It was moved by Grant and Murdoch, that R. A. Jones be paid the sum of $50 in full of damages and cost. Carried.

Mr. W. L. Bernard was appointed to audit the accounts of 1888. A by-law was passed making the appointment and providing that $20 be paid him for the work.

The following committees were appointed: A committee to prepare an address to be presented to His Honor Lieut-Governor Royal on the occasion of his first official visit to Calgary, which it is expected will be about the 27th inst. The Mayor, Councillors Orr and Murdoch.

Mr. Mayor Shelton appeared before the council to explain how the police force stood at the time of his retiring from office. He stated that constable Barker had been sick for two weeks, and that James Riddell had been temporarily employed in Barker's place. He also informed the council that he had received a letter from Hon. E. Dewdney, in which he promised to do all he could to secure to the Eau Claire Lumber Co. the concessions asked for from the government, to facilitate their building a flouring mill in Calgary.

ALBERTA'S CLIMATE.

Further Remarks of Mr. C. C. McCaul on the Effects the Chinook Winds have on the Climate.

In the last number of the American Meteorological Journal, published at Ann Arbor, Mich., Mr. C. C. McCaul returns to the discussion of the climate of South Alberta, about which he published an article in the August number of the same magazine. Accompanying it is a table compiled from records from Mr. C. A. McGrath, the Dominion Meteorological observer at Lethbridge. From this article we quote:

The table kindly supplied by Mr. McGrath, of Toronto, Ont., from observations at Calgary, N.W.T., published with an article in the August number of this Journal, was not so arranged as to show distinctly the conditions and climatic effects of the chinook. Indeed, it would seem from the table that the common idea among stock-men and others, that the effects of the Chinook winds not nearly so pronounced at Calgary as at MacLeod and in the whole broad valley of the Belly river and its tributaries, were true; for while at MacLeod the prevalence of a southwest wind, almost invariably mild and warm, is most noticeable, at Calgary it would seem that the northwest wind is quite as frequent as that from the southwest, and there do not appear to be the same sudden and pronounced rises in the temperature that we experience in this more easterly district. Possibly an explanation of this difference may be found in the fact that the interior of British Columbia, lying to the west and southwest of Calgary, is much more mountainous than that part of British Columbia and Washington Territory that lies to the west and southwest of MacLeod; consequently the wind that impinges on the Rockies near Calgary would, as Mr. Ingersoll pointed out in the article before quoted by me, have been robbed of a large portion of its original moisture by the intervening mountain ranges. Hence a corresponding portion of its latent heat would have been lost, so that its dryness, rather than its heat, would be its most prominent characteristic. A glance at the map will show that a southwesterly wind, blowing over the northwestern corner of California and the interior of Oregon and Washington Territory would have a comparatively unimpeded course, between the Cascade and Blue Mountains, to the passes of the Rocky Mountains to the northward of MacLeod; while a similar wind, blowing from the Oregon coast towards Calgary, would meet with range after range of mountains.

TERRITORIAL.

Several Hundreds More Wasted.

REGINA, 19.—The police made an additional seizure of illegal beer and spilled twenty-eight barrels of draught and one barrel of bottled.

The Advisory Board will Meet.

REGINA, 19.—Lieut-Governor Royal will call a meeting of his Advisory Board to consider matters pertaining to the Northwest Government administration, on or about the 22nd inst.

Big Pow-Wow at Prince Albert.

OTTAWA, 15.—A pow-wow is to be held at Prince Albert on the 31st, between the Wood Crees and Colonel Irvine, with the object of obtaining a surrender of the rights of the former to a large section north of Prince Albert. Runners have been sent out to notify the Indians.

Godin Leaves for Helena.

REGINA, 19.—Sheriff Jefferies arrived unexpectedly last night from Helena and claimed the prisoner Godin, paying in all about $600 reward and expenses. He left for Helena via Winnipeg and Grand Forks. Jefferies says that the general opinion in Helena is that Godin will not hang, but get a life sentence, if the Supreme Court grants the new trial.

A Swift Current Bereavement.

SWIFT CURRENT, 12.—On Friday morning at 8 o'clock Mrs. Knight, wife of W. G. Knight, J. P., died of typhoid fever here at the observatory. The deceased lady was most highly respected in the town, and deep sympathy is expressed with her bereaved husband, who nursed her with most devoted attention through her last illness, and to whom there now remains the charge of two young children. The funeral took place at 2 p. m. on Saturday on Mr. Fenton's farm, where Mrs. Knight was laid to rest beside the remains of Mr. Fenton's son. All Swift Current was present and a gloom has been cast over the whole township at the early death of so good a mother and one so highly esteemed by all who know her.

STOCK.

More Lessees Cancelled.

OTTAWA, 16.—Mr. Dewdney continues to keep alive to the best interests of the Northwest. Another order-in-council on his recommendation has just been passed cancelling fifteen more grazing leases, comprising three hundred and sixty-six thousand acres.

Montana Cattle.

HELENA, 15.—Conrad Kohn, one of the heaviest cattle raisers in the territory, has just returned from a trip over the range, and says he never saw cattle in better condition at this season of the year. He estimated that 100,000 beef cattle will be shipped to market from the territory next season, and that 135,000 will be driven from the South.

$800 for a Foal.

Quite a sensation will be caused among breeders of Clydesdales by the announcement that Mr. Cranston, Tiwald House, Dumfries, has just sold to Mr. Peter Crawford a seven months' foal at $2,500. This is the highest price ever paid for a Clydesdale of this age. Mr. Cranston purchased the dam, "Maggie of Whitehill," a year and a half ago at Mr. Kerr's sale at Whitehill for $825. The purchase has therefore proved a remarkably lucky one for Mr. Cranston, whose name is familiarly associated with the breeding of prize Galloways, Ayrshires and Dorkings than with horses. Since he moved from Drumlanig castle to the farm of Tiwald House, Mr. Cranston has decided to confine his attention solely to Clydesdales and poultry, and he has already succeeded in fracturing the record on foals. The valuable youngster has gone to a good stable, and his career will doubtless be watched with lively interest.—London Journal.

The Suspected Jack the Ripper.

LONDON, 16.—The man arrested in Tunis as Jack the Ripper, confesses to having recently lived at Whitechapel and to having been guilty of similar crimes there.

The Premier's Son Worsted.

LONDON, 18.—The resignation of Captain Lord William Cecil, son of Lord Salisbury, from the Grenadier Guards has caused a great stir in military circles. No reason for the resignation was given to the public, but it is asserted that his withdrawal was due to a fist fight which his onship recently had with a brother officer at the Knights' bridge barracks. From the reports in circulation it is gathered that Lord Cecil got very much the worst of the encounter and besides receiving a yoked eye sustained other injuries at the hands of his antagonist, which will necessitate his retirement from public view for some time. It is understood that some of the radical members of the Commons have resolved to question the Secretary for War concerning the affair when parliament meets.

In Full Accord.

LONDON, 22.—It is stated upon good authority that the English Government has decided to uphold the treaty, by the provisions of which European powers are precluded from obtaining or attempting to obtain dominion over Samoa. England has been fully informed of the views of the American Government and is in full accord. The two governments have agreed that the action of the agents of Germany in Samoa is opposed to the letter and spirit of the treaty and also violated diplomatic etiquette, and endangered good relations so necessary to the presence of Americans and Europeans, when dealing with semi-barbarous natives. Despatches have been sent to Berlin couched in language conveying the foregoing sense of the situation.

"Best Girl Trust."

ADRIAN, Mich., 17.—Among the features of Adrian college which are not set forth in the annual catalogue is a "best girl trust." The young men are sworn to secrecy and to abide the rules of the trust, the object being the monopoly of the best girls in the college. The organization began by selecting as many girls as there were members of the trust, who were divided by lot, the provision being that each man should entirely monopolize the lady assigned to him for one month, and to allow no other man to escort her a foot on pain of a heavy fine and imprisonment in a coal shed until released by the faculty. At the end of the month each member must trade girls with some other member, if called upon to do so. The trust has been in operation some time and is said to be flourishing.

Organized Assassins.

LONDON, 17.—Before the Parnell commission today an informer named Delaney, testified that he belonged to the Fenians. He said the principal part of the oath was a clause binding the members to assassinate the Viceroy and the whole executive of Ireland. The witness said he was deputed to watch Forster, and Joseph Brady and Timothy Kelly were delegated to murder him. The witness testified he had no part in the Phoenix Park murders. The witness attended a meeting in Dublin at which Davitt, Parnell, Egan, Biggar, Dillon, Brennan and Harris were present, Corley, at this meeting, attacked Davitt for not adhering to the principles of the organization. The witness was told that the circles were not opposed to the league, which would organize Fenians and supply them with arms. At a meeting of levies, held after the Phoenix Park murders, a quantity of gold and notes were laid on the table. Afterwards revolvers, daggers and money came. Delaney swore that James Carey had attempted to hire a house from the windows of which the Dublin Castle officials might be shot; but was unable to secure one in the locality suitable for his purpose.

A New Doctrine.

PARIS, 18.—The New York Herald's European edition publishes the following: A new doctrine has now taken root in the hearts of Jews all over the world, the doctrine of assimilation with Christianity, and the apostle of the doctrine, destined to bring about the salvation of Israel, is now in Paris and is no other than Baron Hirsch the well known Parisian banker, who has given over 100,000,000 francs in Russia and Austria alone toward carrying out this glorious conception. A reporter found Baron Hirsch and asked: "Will you tell me about the motives that induced you to make your magnificent donation in Russia?" "My idea is this," he replied: "I am a bitter enemy to fanaticism, bigotry, and exclusive theology. The Jewish question can only be solved by the disappearance of the Jewish race, which will inevitably be accomplished by the amalgamation of Christians and Jews. The funds I have placed at the disposal of Russia are not for the educational purposes of Jewish children alone, but for Christian children as well. There are four and a half millions of Jewish children in Russia who are in a most destitute condition. They do not even know the Russian language and speak a sort of Hebrew jargon of their own. They are frightfully handicapped in all that concerns earning their bread and making their own way in life. There is a complete Chinese wall around them, isolating them from the rest of humanity. My idea was to knock out the corner stone of this wall and establish schools in Russia on the condition that they should be open to Jews and Christians on terms of perfect equality."

Plague Stricken Denver.

KANSAS CITY, 19.—Seven persons fleeing from the small pox scourge in Denver arrived in this city last night en route east. They say that from the best authority they could obtain, there are 750 cases of disease in Denver and that fully 700 are in the city pest house.

High Handed Germans.

SAN FRANCISCO, 21.—The steamer Ala media arrived here this morning from Samoa. A correspondent writing from Apia, Samoa, under date of January 5th, says: "A most serious state of affairs exists in Samoa, as a result of the recent attack by the Germans on Mataafa, in which 25 sailors were killed and 32 wounded. The German war ships burned the American houses, tore down United States flags and seized some American citizens in neutral water in Apia harbor and took them prisoners on board the German men of war. A boat's crew from a German vessel, in command of an officer, have shot at the Captain and Lieutenant of an English man of war." The letter adds that King Matus's party have been fighting almost constantly since the battle at Lauboauna, killing and wounding many.

Chinese and Opium.

PORT TOWNSEND, W. T., 15.—The largest opium and Chinese seizure made on Puget Sound for several months was made Thursday night, when nearly $5,000 worth of opium and twelve Chinamen were captured in the British sloop Emerald, near the mouth of Port Discovery Bay. The vessel was in charge of Benjamin Lundy and Frank Aili, and was loaded with 400 pounds of refined opium and a dozen Chinamen from Victoria. The master was to receive $20 for every Chinaman landed on American soil, besides $2,000 on the opium. All the Chinamen were provided with British certificates entitling them to return to Victoria. The smugglers when they observed the revenue cutter, Oliver Wolcott, bearing down upon them, threw a large quantity of opium overboard attached to life preservers, a few of which the officers picked up. They were heavily armed but offered no resistance. The smugglers were bound over in the sum of $3,000 each to appear for trial.

ASHES TO ASHES.

The Remains of the Late Mrs. E. M. Rogers Committed to the Earth.

The driving snow is spreading a pall of immaculate white over a grave at Fish Creek cemetery containing all that is mortal of the late Mrs. E. M. Rogers. The funeral took place from the family residence, Angus Avenue, Thursday afternoon and was largely attended, the representative nature of the cortege testifying at once to the rare popularity of the deceased and to the prevailing sympathy for the bereaved family in their affliction. The pall-bearers were Messrs. A. D. Brithwaite, W. T. Ramsay, J. G. Fitzgerald, E. P. Davis, J. S. Gibb and Jas. A. Lindsay. The chief mourners were Mr. Edwin R. Rogers and infant daughter, Mr. Thos. Clark, father of deceased and Mr. Alfred Rogers, her brother-in-law. Leaving the house about two o'clock, the cortege proceeded via Scarth Street, Stephen Avenue and Oster Street to the Church of the Redeemer. At the church the beautiful service of the Church of England was held. The pastor, Rev. A. W. F. Cooper, met the body at the door, reciting the well known words from St. John's Gospel: "I am the resurrection and the life, saith the Lord; he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live; and whosoever believeth in me shall never die." The Psalms prescribed in the ritual having been chanted, that glorious chapter of Corinthians set apart for the season was read and a hymn sung. It was the well known hymn:

"When our heads are bowed with woe

"When our bitter tears are flowing

"When we mourn the lost, the dear:

"Jesus, Son of Mary, hear!"

The officiating clergyman then delivered a touching address, urging the bereaved to derive consolation from the hope of all Christians, and calling upon the congregation to take this sudden call as a warning to be prepared. He referred felicitly to the fact that only a few days ago the deceased had worshipped in the church and partaken of the Holy Communion.

Newman's beautiful hymn

"Lead kindly light amid the encircling gloom,

"Lead thou me on," which was a favourite with the deceased was then sung, concluding the first part of the service.

The Dead March in Saul was played as the casket was borne down the aisle. A large number of the mourners accompanied the remains to the place of interment, Fish Creek Cemetery, where as usual, the service of committal was held. The snow was falling heavily, and as the clergyman repeated the hopeful words "We therefore commit her body to the ground; earth to earth, ashes to ashes, dust to dust; in sure and certain hope of the Resurrection to eternal life, through our Lord Jesus Christ, the pure white covering which nature was generously spreading over the casket, appeared emblematic of that purity when "He shall change our vile body, that it may be like unto His glorious body." The service over, the grave-diggers performed the last sad duties, the mourners returned to town; the bereaved family to a home from which joy has been banished for many a day, but to which the heartfelt sympathy of a whole community goes out.

These gentlemen will go to Edmonton to examine the country with a view to advising Lucas & Aird as to the advisability of undertaking the construction of the Alberta and Athabasca Railway.

Mr. James McBride, youngest son of Mr. A. McBride, left Calgary by No. 2 express yesterday morning with the remains of his brother Alfred M. McBride for London, Ont. A number of mourners accompanied the remains to the train at 3 o'clock in the morning. The deceased caught a very severe cold in London two years ago, and was very ill for a long time. He came on here for his health last summer and improved very rapidly, so well that he went into business at Kamloops. About two weeks ago he caught another cold and came to Calgary, but did not rally, only being able to be up town a couple of times since his return. He finally sank rather suddenly on Friday, and died about noon on that day. The deceased leaves a wife and one child who are at present in London, having gone from here to that city about two months ago.

It will not surprise Mrs. J. Fahey's Calgary friends to learn that she is captivating the hearts of the Winnipeg people, among whom she now lives, by her rich contralto voice. Mrs. Fahey sang at a concert Thursday last, and all the Winnipeg papers are enthusiastic in their admiration of her singing. The Free Press in the course of its account of the entertainment remarked:—

"Mrs. J. Fahey also gave a selection 'A Hundred Fathoms Deep' which was well received. This lady has a beautiful, mellow contralto voice, and knows well how to use it." The Sun said Mrs. Fahey this graceful compliment:—

"Mrs. J. Fahey sang 'A Hundred Fathoms Deep.' Mr. Cameron, the chairman remarked that if this lady got down that low, an encore would certainly be in order. Sure enough she satisfied the audience that if not getting down that far, she at least came very near it, so an encore was asked for, when Mrs. Fahey repeated the last verse. She is a spirited singer, and it is to be hoped that her contralto selections will be heard from time to time in the city."
